

FAArt

I have been trying to think of what I have to offer you this March. What springs to mind? Well buttery yellows, new buds of inspiration and a little blossom of nice news. The Painting Every Day has continued (mostly), but some of it is TOP SECRET so this month I give you my top 3 which includes a Shower Darren, a painter's hand and a bowling alley.

SOUND THE ALARM:

March means:
HINTS OF BUTTER

Because BUTTER makes everything
BETTER

/2026

Extended
Longlist

JACKSON'S
ART PRIZE

I received a congratulations email instead of a rejection. Dave n Big G was in the top 26% of 16,280 entries for Jackson's Art Prize, which you can view and read about in the online gallery here:

Jackson's Art Prize

FREE TO SEE:

Mounira Al Solh - Europa's Bedroom
Love a free exhibition and I couldn't resist a first trip to the Arnolfini in Bristol, UK after scoffing down something delicious at Hart's bakery.

There was lots to take in, but I most enjoyed all Al Solh's tales of Phoenician myth. The diorama vibes from this one were great. Really liked the iron moving back and forth very pointlessly.

A land as big as her skin on until 24 May 2026.

PAINTING EVERY DAY TOP 3:

HOT TIPS THIS MONTH:

If you're feeling down, LOOK UP. Perhaps you will see something like the MIGHTY RED KITE, and if not you can just get your niece shouting "BIRD" which is always hilarious.

Go on holiday in your own head. Current recommendations:
Poor Artists by Zurina Muhammad + Gabrielle de la Puente
Stoner by John Williams

DANCING TO:

Canter - Gerry Cinnamon

I have gone back to this beauty from 2020. Enjoy the uplift.

