Let's get back to talking about F.Art babes. Fashion in art.

Why? Well fashion in art is storytelling. Was it hot? Cold? Is the artist just flexing that they are really good at painting satin? What does that hat mean? So whilst I'm still here in my 'renaissance outfits are hot hot drama' phase, you can enjoy my hot takes from a recent excursion to the Rijks Museum.

Outfits themes have revolved around stripes, vests and egg badges

This 1st Century Roman sculptor was 100% flexing their textile tekkers! Ooooph the billowing of it all.

I heard that you needed a SHOWER DARREN.

Egg badges coming soon to shop.emilyshackleton.com Remember egg is life. The white is what you can't control, the yolk is what you can. Focus on your yolk.

The Seven Works of Mercy - Master of Alkmaar (1504)

Memorial tablet - Master of Spies Nostra (c. 1500)

Milleleurs Tapestry with Narcissus (c. 1480-1520)

Uggs have been around a lot longer than you think. Also that floor <3

This painting might be about mortality, but all I am thinking about is that red hat. Yes Hun!

I wonder when men in red tights will be the fashion again... And capes.
